Save time and money while improving your product's appearance. By lubricating the folder fan, this system reduces the friction between the paper and the fan fingers allowing the folded paper to be released evenly on the conveyor.

The DES-825 uses an airless spray nozzle to dispense lubricant onto the second folding rollers. The lubricant is applied intermittently and is transferred into the friction point in the folder. The control system allows the amount of dispensed lubricant to be adjusted and interlocked with the press for automatic operation.
